

My name is Tallulah—Tully, Tully Heart, Tully Bear, or Punky Brewster. I was born on a thirty-acre farm on Blossom Road in Eugene, Oregon. It was New Year's Day, and Tallulah wasn't even the name I was given. I was part of an ice cream litter, and we all had ice cream names. Mine was Moose Tracks.

My mother was Dixie; and on her papers, she was Dixieland Delight. We dogs like to chew papers, but Mamma Dixie's papers were important to our breeder, Lesli, who runs Oregon Oodles of Doodles and Poodles and the people who come take us home.

Our ice cream litter included: Bubble Gum, Chunky Monkey, Cookie Dough, Moose Tracks (me!), Mudslide, Rainbow Sherbert, Rocky Road, Salted Caramel, Tootie Fruity, Vanilla Bean.

My mamma's mother was a golden retriever and her daddy was a purebred white, standard poodle. That made Mamma Dixie a goldendoodle herself!
